Report -Week beginning March 6th 2017

At the fishery this week we have had more wet and windy conditions making it hard for some anglers while others have bagged up. Cyril Thomas caught a superb 11lb 6oz rainbow on a gold head black and lime green fritz, Derric Williams also caught a cracking 10lb 5oz rainbow caught on a double rainbow beaded damsel. Spring is definitely in the air with all shoots in the margins ready to come through the water surface and burst into life, the mallards are also paired up and are sitting on eggs so it wont be long until the trout start feeding more on nymphs and dry flies. The fishery will be CLOSED this Sunday the 12th of March for our last round of the winter league competition which is sponsored by Trinity Nursing Services.

Brian Clarke writes an article about fly fishing on the first Monday of each month in the Times. This week he wrote about the Wild Trout Trust. Not much to do with us until you delve a little deeper into their work and then add this to the problems caused by farm slurry draining off fields into rivers. One of the most recent incidents of this had devastating effects on the Teifi. It appears that tracing the source of any such environmental disaster is extremely difficult.

Nothing to do with us you say again. But we are fed by a river and any sort of pollution can have an effect. The Wild Trout Trust has cleared miles of previously overgrown river banks and created positive habitats for wild trout. All through volunteers. If you are interested look further and you will see some very well known members.
